

Trolley Cars May Now Use Broadway Crossing

Common Council After Spirited Debate Withdraws Opposition to Crossing Use by Vote of 6 to 5—To Investigate Question of Making Station WDBZ a Municipal Broadcasting One—Portraits of City's Mayors.

Tuesday evening the common council by a vote of 6 to 5 withdrew its opposition to the use of the Broadway crossing by the trolley road after the matter had hung fire in the council for several months. About two months ago the New York State Public Service Commission handed down an order allowing the trolley road to use the crossing provided the city withdrew its opposition. Other matters considered by the council were the question of making Station WDBZ in the city hall a municipal broadcasting station; the obtaining of the portraits of former mayors of the city and the resignation of Mayor E. J. Dempsey as alderman-at-large.

Trolley Road Asked Action.

The trolley matter came up when City Clerk A. A. Styles read the following communication from General Manager C. Burton Tebow of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad:

"For the last six or seven months the earnings of this company have fallen far below a return necessary to its continued operation. In fact, so far that its solvency was so threatened that a petition was filed November 2 with the public service commission for an increase in fare to 10 cents and 12 tickets for $1.

"Shortly after the filing of this petition became public, we were approached by the then acting mayor, Mr. H. J. Dempsey, who stated that it was their thought that the reason for our earnings was because of the poor time made by the cars caused by the operation through the subway, and that if we were allowed to operate over the Broadway crossing, earnings would be restored, eliminating the necessity of a higher fare; and that if we would withdraw our petition and consent to make a fair trial of their plan that they were sure the city would withdraw their objection to the operation over the crossing, to which we gave our consent, and wrote the commission not to set a date for hearing of fare petition.

"At the next meeting of the board of aldermen the matter was brought up, discussed and finally referred to the railroad committee. A few days after this meeting the corporation counsel, Mr. Jackson, called upon the writer and said that the city's position was that we should ask the public service commission to reopen the Broadway crossing case so that all parties could be heard.

"On November 16, our attorney, Hon. Frank Irvine of Ithaca, wrote the commission, advising them of the city's attitude and on November 17 the commission issued an order dated November 16, giving their consent to operate over the Broadway crossing, but such consent was not to be effective until the city of Kingston withdrew their objection to our using the crossing.

"Our object in sending this letter is that while we wait for our petition to get far from a satisfactory service, a 12 to 15 minute service, a 12 to 15 minute service, and we now must earnestly say that if the city authorities are anxious and want the people who use the cars—(who voted last May 68 per cent to use the crossing)—to have the best possible service at the least possible cost that it must be done with all possible dispatch, as our finances will not suffer any more delay and we are sure that you will all agree that we have used the utmost patience."

Should Act on Matter.

Mayor E. J. Dempsey, who presided at the council meeting, said that Mr. Tebow was somewhat in error as neither he nor Alderman DeGarmo, chairman of the railroad committee, had made any promise at the meeting mentioned but had said they would lay the entire matter before the council, but that did not change the status in the matter and action should be taken one way or the other on the question.

Alderman DeGarmo agreed with Mayor Dempsey and offered a resolution regarding the former resolution opposing the use of the Broadway crossing and moved that the city withdraw its opposition.

Concern With Residents.

Alderman O'Reilly said he believed the council was to withdraw its opposition, there should be included in the withdrawal a demand that the trolley road receive and discharge passengers on the right hand side of the trolley car only. If this was not done, there were sure to be accidents at the Broadway crossing as traffic was exceptionally heavy at that point.

President Dempsey suggested that Alderman O'Reilly offer that as a separate motion and it would be referred to the railroad committee who would take the matter up with the trolley road.

Excess Favored Council.

Alderman O'Reilly favored granting the use of the crossing as in his opinion it was only a question of time when fares would have to be raised anyway and the trolley road had promised to give the Broadway crossing a thorough trial before seeking another increase in fare. He said he believed the council should act for the best interests of the city, and if granting consent would defer the question of a higher fare for six months it would be of benefit to those who used the trolley cars.

"Subway for One-Way Traffic."

Alderman Clare thought that if the trolley road was not going to use the subway, it would be a good idea for the city to take it over and use it as a one-way street for traffic.

Lost Time Before.

Alderman Fox said he could not see where granting permission to use the Broadway crossing would assist the trolley service as when the crossing was used the trolley road lost 55 minutes a day, and how could they expect to make it up now?

No Harm to City.

Alderman Moore said there was no question in his mind but it was simply a question of time when the trolley road would be bankrupt and he saw no objection to the trolley cars using the crossing.

"How About Safety?"

Alderman Sharkey said the aldermen should not forget the element of safety, and that it was safer to use the subway than the Broadway crossing.

Would Be Confusing.

Alderman Haines was of the opinion that the trolley road using both the subway and the Broadway crossing would prove confusing to the traveling public. "Suppose you alighted from a West Shore train carrying two suit cases and walked down the subway steps only to find that the trolley car had gone over the Broadway crossing," said Alderman Haines.

The Vote.

President Dempsey directed that a vote be taken, which resulted in the withdrawal of the city's opposition by a vote of 6 to 5.

Those who favored using the Broadway crossing were Alderman DeGarmo, Moore, Molyneux, O'Reilly, Neife and Everett.

Those opposed were Alderman Haines, Fox, Radcliff, Clare and Sharkey.

Alderman Mann and Flannery were not present at the meeting.

Portraits of Mayors.

Alderman O'Reilly offered a resolution that the mayor and city historian be given authority to obtain, if possible, portraits or photographs of former mayors of the city, to have same framed and a suitable plate engraved and placed on each frame and the collection hung in the city hall.

Raise for Superintendent.

Alderman Everett, of the building and supply committee, offered a resolution that beginning January 1, the salary of the city hall superintendent be at the rate of $120 per month. It was referred to the finance, ways and means committee, and a recess was taken to give the committee a chance to report. The committee reported favorably and the report was unanimously adopted.

WDBZ a Municipal Station.

Alderman Moore brought up the question of Station WDBZ in the city hall. He said that it was now operated in a sort of haphazard way. He was of the opinion that the city should take some action in the matter to make the station of benefit to the city. He was not prepared to say whether it should be taken over as a municipal station and operated by the city, or whether the city should contribute toward its support.

Alderman O'Reilly said he believed it a good idea as the city received considerable favorable advertising from the station.

President Dempsey reminded the two aldermen that the city was not in a position to expend any considerable sum of money, but as the matter should be thoroughly investigated, he appointed as the committee to have charge of the investigation Alderman Moore, O'Reilly and Clare.

Who Give Permission.

Alderman O'Reilly said he desired to know who gave the New York Telephone Company permission to run up the sidewalk on Broadway and lay conduits.

The board of public works granted of permission, provided the telephone company related walks and streets in same condition as they found them," replied President Dempsey.

"I think the board of public works was exceeding its authority," said Alderman O'Reilly. "By granting permission it was giving the telephone company a franchise and the common council is the only legislative body in the city."

President Dempsey said he would refer Alderman O'Reilly's question to the laws and rules committee and

Padlock Writs Against 58 New York Night Clubs

Seven Raising Parties Serve Injunctions To Stop Sale of Liquor at Once—Agents Lined the Life of Broadway For the Past Fortnight.

New York, Dec. 22 (AP).—A string of padlocks that extended from the Roaring Forties to Greenwich Village today adorned the managerial desks of 58 of New York's most popular night clubs and restaurants as a result of sweeping federal prohibition raids on Broadway.

Complaint bills and temporary personal injunctions were served on the club owners early today by seven raiding parties from the office of Federal Attorney Emory R. Buckner, who started out at midnight.

Included among the places raided were some of the most glittering centers of New York night life, including Texas Guinan's 300 Club, Helen Morgan's Fifty-fourth street Club, the Cafe de Paris, Dinty Moore's Club Anatole, Club Richman and a score or more of others equally well known.

The raids were carried out quietly and caused no disturbance of guests. Federal authorities said the raids were designed to forestall plans of the club owners for wet parties during the holidays. Confiscated liquor was sent to the West 47th street police station where it was stacked in piles that half filled the station.

Agents "Lived the Life."

Evidence against the establishments was obtained by federal agents, who were declared to have "lived the life of Broadway" from midnight until dawn for the past fortnight.

Some posed as idle sons of wealthy London widows, others as big cotton brokers from the south, an exiled Russian nobleman of the late czar's bodyguard and still others as wealthy real estate promoters from Florida. They are said to have been introduced into the clubs by prominent Broadwayites and popular actresses who took the agents' word that they really were what they pretended to be.

"The story of how Broadway fell for a big butter and egg man is funnier than fiction," Mr. Buckner said last night, but he gave no further details.

One of those who roused for a federal agent was described as "a young Englishman of noble ancestry" who took an agent's word for what he was, and eagerly introduced him in the hope of obtaining a commission for bringing new customers into the club.

"So thoroughly did these polished prohibition agents worm their way into the hearts of Broadway," says a statement issued from Mr. Buckner's office, "that on their second visit to the Three Hundred Club, Texas Guinan, the hostess, threw them a kiss and asked them why they were leaving her place so early."

A New Departure.

The plan followed by the federal authorities in serving personal injunctions in addition to padlock proceedings was a new departure in prohibition enforcement. If the padlock proceedings alone had been the defendant clubs would have had twenty days to file answers and the authorities believe many would take advantage of this to sell liquor.

The personal injunction, however, stops the sale of liquor as soon as the paper has been served and federal authorities said that as a jail term for contempt is the penalty for violation of an injunction, club and restaurant owners would be wary of violating it. Defendants, however, have the privilege of going before the courts and asking that the injunctions be set aside, but Mr. Buckner believes the government would be upheld.

BOY SCOUTS INSPECTED AND GIVEN INSTRUCTION

Boy Scout Troop No. 1 held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening and B. C. Van Ingen, principal of Kingston High School and a member of the troop committee, was at the meeting and inspected the scouts. H. N. Smith, scout executive, was also present. Special work in signaling was given by J. Christian Port and Chester R. Hall, head of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. gave instructions in the proper methods of bandaging.

They could obtain an opinion from the corporation counsel as to whether it was wanting the telephone company a franchise by permitting them to lay the conduits under the sidewalks rather than in the street.

Remedial Instruction.

The following resolutions were introduced:

By Alderman Moore—that large light be placed on the hill on Flatbush avenue below the City House; that an incandescent light be placed on Lincoln street in front of the Arnold residence.

By Alderman Radcliff—that Hunter street, between Howe and Abel streets, be designated for cutting.

By Alderman Sharkey—that board of public works keep free of snow and ice the places where the buses receive and discharge passengers at North Front Street, Broadway and C. & A. streets, Wall and Main streets, St. 24 and Broadway and elsewhere.

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

Promotion Comes To Manager of the Governor Clinton

Manager Wartman Resigns, Effective January 15, to Become Manager of New Half Moon Hotel at Coney Island—Successor to Be Selected Later.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Community Hotel Corporation held Tuesday evening in the Governor Clinton the resignation of Manager George H. Wartman, to take effect January 15, was presented and accepted. The matter of selecting a successor will be taken up at a later meeting at which General Kild, president of the American Hotels Corporation, will be present and bring with him and exhibit to the directors several specimens of manager material from which to make a selection.

Mr. Wartman's resignation was given in order that he may accept the management of the Half Moon, the new 400-room hotel on Coney Island which is to be opened under the management of the American Hotels Corporation about April. The Half Moon is a community hotel and will be operated as a high class resort. It is located on the unincorporated east end of Coney Island, which in recent years has developed as a high class resort section. Owing to the fact that there is no district supervisor employed by the American Hotels Corporation to cover that section of the state, it is necessary to have the manager of the Half Moon on the ground to supervise the finishing and furnishing of the building, so Mr. Wartman will be in charge for several weeks before the hotel opens. After leaving Kingston Mr. Wartman will spend about three weeks in Florida, in charge of advertising the new hotel and other hotels operated by the corporation.

Promotion to the management of the Half Moon, a hotel four times the size of the Governor Clinton and in the class of the Roosevelt, is a distinctive honor and appreciation of ability and service that those who have known Mr. Wartman and his work in Kingston will agree has been well earned. Coming here when the Governor Clinton was unfinished and in a generally chaotic state, he did the things that everybody said could not be done, brought order out of confusion and managed a series of opening dinners without a flaw. Under his quiet but efficient watchfulness and control the hotel has increased in popularity and done a business that even the most sanguine did not expect. It is hoped that Mr. Wartman's successor will be as wisely chosen.

Mystery Shrouds Eddyville Cutting

Henry Bassett, Negro, Seriously Hurt in Highway Fight—Victim at City Hospital—Arrests Expected Soon.

At 10:45 o'clock Tuesday evening, a hurry call was received at the sheriff's office from Eddyville stating that a man had been seriously cut and requesting that aid be sent. Sergeant James Cunningham and two Troopers who were in town were called from their hotel and with Deputy Sheriffs James Ellsworth and James Millard went to the scene.

When they arrived they found there had been a fight on the highway near the Schumann Hotel. Several were involved in the affair and Henry Bassett, colored, was seriously cut. He had a deep gash in his back and head and marks were evident where a sharp instrument had been drawn across his throat. His wounds were of a serious nature and he had lost considerable blood from the wounds. Unable to get medical aid, the victim was brought to the Kingston City Hospital by the Troopers shortly before midnight.

Today his condition is better but he will have to remain at the hospital for some time.

Bassett's condition was so serious when the Troopers and sheriff's men arrived that they were unable to get any statement from him as to who was responsible for the injuries. After the cutting Bassett was left in the roadway bleeding and unable to seek aid. He was discovered by a woman who gave the alarm.

The case is being investigated by the State Troopers and suspects will be questioned this afternoon. Arrests are expected to follow.

Bassett for a time was employed at the Hotel Garage on Fair street as night man. He resides in a small house at Eddyville near the old canal.

Speaker and Cobb Deny Charges of Fixing Ball Game

Between Detroit and Cleveland in 1919 as Charged by "Dutch" Leonard, Former Detroit Pitcher—Cobb Sent Letter to Leonard.

Chicago, Dec. 22 (AP).—The attention of the baseball world centered today on a seven year old game, that between the Detroit and Cleveland American League teams on September 25, 1919, around which charges of fixing, involving two of the greatest players known to the game, have been made.

The long smoldering bombshell, the subject of many recent rumors, broke yesterday and sent fragments into many places, but today those named as conspirators came back quickly with denials of wrongdoing.

Ty Cobb and Tis Speaker, idols of thousands of baseball fans, and holders of many baseball records, declared they are innocent of assertions that they were involved in a conspiracy to "throw" the ball game and to benefit by betting on the outcome of the contest, made by Hubert (Dutch) Leonard, one time pitcher for Detroit, and made public by Baseball Commissioner Landis.

In addition they declared they had attempted to get Leonard, now living on a ranch in California, to face them. Commissioner Landis, in giving out Leonard's testimony, mentioned that the former ballplayer repeatedly had refused to present the charges at a hearing at which Cobb and Speaker could be present. Finally the commissioner called upon Leonard in his California home.

Managers Deny Charges.

Cobb, who recently resigned as manager of the Tigers, said in Chicago that he had "never bet a cent on an American League baseball game," and denied that he knew of any plan to "throw" the game, while Speaker, who likewise resigned his managerial berth with Cleveland after the close of the season, asserted in Cleveland that he was "innocent of any wrongdoing," charging that "Leonard deliberately falsified any statement he has made that implicates me."

Commissioner Landis, in making public 100 pages of testimony in the case, made no ruling, because Cobb, Speaker, Leonard, and Joe Wood, former Cleveland pitcher, mentioned in the case, all were out of baseball, but said that a decision as to the attitude of organized baseball would be forthcoming if required by changed conditions.

Leonard's Charges.

Leonard's testimony was that Cobb, Speaker, Wood and himself met under the grandstand of Navin Field, Detroit, on September 24, 1919, and agreed that Detroit should win its game with Cleveland the next day, giving the Tigers a chance to finish third in the American League pennant race. In addition, Leonard said, the four planned to benefit on the outcome, with each putting up a sum of money but that only he and Wood won $120 apiece when Detroit won, as Cobb and Speaker did not put up their share of the money. The charges were supported by two letters, one from Wood and another from Cobb, both containing allusions to betting.

Acknowledges Letter.

Cobb acknowledged he had sent a letter to Leonard, but called the letter to which it referred as wholly legitimate and one of the sort frequently entered into by baseball players. The Georgia Peach said that, while he refused to bet on games in his own league, it was a frequent custom among players to make such bets.

"I have been in baseball twenty-two years," he said. "I have played the game as hard and square and clean as any man ever did. All I thought of was to win, every year, every month, every day, every hour. My conscience is clear. I will rest my case with the American fans."

Speaker "The Goat."

Speaker called himself the "goat" of the game, declared he was not mentioned in the Leonard letters and added: "I know nothing of any wagers being made in this context or of any fixing. The only thing I have against me is the word of a man who is behind this farce, Leonard. I have requested repeatedly that Leonard be brought in to face me but he has positively refused to come into a meeting."

Maintaining that he had been told of a threat by Leonard to get him after the latter had been raised out of the American League, Speaker said he hoped the former pitcher would appear before Landis and clear his name. "The testimony on file with the commissioner, together with the explanations given by both Wood and Cobb, proves beyond doubt that there was no thought of wrong doing on the part of either man. And there is nothing to show that the ball game was fixed."

Leonard, who during his baseball career had served under both Cobb and Speaker, refused to comment upon the case at his beach home near Fresno, California. "I will not deny or affirm the commissioner's statement," he said. "I wish to be non-committal at present."

Money Sent to Work.

The members of St. Mary's Rosary Society will meet at the home of the late Catherine Clark, 64 East Chestnut street, Thursday at 3 p. m. to arrange the Rosary.

Real Estate Board Of Kingston and Vicinity Formed

Local Agents Effect Temporary Organization Which Will Become Affiliated With State and National Associations—Service Rendered to Property Owners.

Temporary organization of the Real Estate Board of Kingston and Vicinity was effected at a conference of real estate agents Tuesday evening, following a dinner in the coffee room of the Governor Clinton Hotel and very soon a number of the leading men in that business will have the right to be known as realtors. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and President Reben of that body presided.

Before introducing the speaker of the evening President Reben stated that the meeting had been arranged as part of an effort to have the real estate men here do as others do—organize for the betterment of their profession and exclude from membership the unfit. In this state there are 27 real estate boards, 13 of which are in small cities. In the United States there are 664 boards affiliated with the National Association of Real Estate Boards and subscribing to its code of ethics.

The speaker of the evening was Executive Vice President J. A. Hall, of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards, who gave an outline of the growth of the organization in the 22 years since it was formed in Syracuse with 54 members. It now has more than 5,000 members in the state. Its influence is exerted not merely for the direct benefit of the dealer in real estate, but also for the protection of the real estate owner. It does a vast amount of work in watching and influencing legislation that would injure owners of real estate. In the last legislature 471 bills adverse to real estate interests were introduced and only one of these passed.

What Real Estate Pays.

Real estate represents 53 per cent of the wealth of the people and pays 82 per cent of the taxes. Exemptions from taxation add to the burden of those who pay. At present 22 per cent of real estate is exempt from tax. The State Association has been instrumental in preventing further exemptions. It favors an income tax, the fairest of all forms of taxation, and stands with the Grange and the Farm Bureau in demanding a gasoline tax. There is a gasoline tax in 44 states and inhabitants of these states come here and use our roads without paying any tax. Those along the border even come here to buy a tank full of gasoline and become gasoline bootleggers. A man owning a $5,000 house will pay at least $150 in taxes on it, while a man owning a $5,000 automobile will pay $27.50 and a difference of more than $20,000,000 a year between receipts from automobile tax and the cost of highways is made up by direct tax on real estate.

Because of this general service to owners of real estate, property owners are permitted to become associate members of Real Estate Boards. The dues in the case of the Kingston organization being $5 a year. To active members, who are dealers in real estate, the dues are $50 a year and the membership fee $50, although the membership fee will not be exacted from those who join within the next 30 days.

Officers Elected.

After a full discussion, it was decided to organize the Kingston Board and pending the issuing of a charter a temporary organization for 60 days was effected by electing Nathaniel B. Gross president, James F. Hyatt, Arthur J. Burns, Edwin L. Merritt and Samuel Mann.

Constitution and by-laws were adopted, with some details to be decided on later at a meeting to be called by the officers.

JAILED EVERY WILL.

Rural Carrier at Ulster Park.

Governor Suffering From Cold.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 22 (AP).—Because of an indisposition, described as "slight," Governor Smith did not visit the Capitol today. The governor is suffering from a cold and upon the advice of his physician he remained at the Executive Mansion. Several conferences and appointments were postponed.

Reade's Theatre Will Be Opened Christmas Day

Public Is Invited To Inspect Remodeled Building on Christmas Afternoon From 1 Until 2 o'clock. When Regular Show Commences.

Work at Reade's Kingston Theatre is progressing and those who saw the condition of the house a week ago and expressed their belief that it would be impossible to have it ready for opening on Christmas day would find a great transformation today. The theatre will be ready for opening Saturday when the feature picture "Tin Hats" will be shown. The show will commence at 2 o'clock and will be continuous until 11 o'clock. The regular price of admission will be charged for this show.

The public is invited to inspect the house from 1 until 2 o'clock Christmas day.

Those who visit the place will find an apparently new theatre. There will be but slight resemblance to the house when closed two weeks prior. The auditorium has been entirely remodeled and re-decorated throughout. A new floor sloping from the rear to the new orchestra pit will have a seating capacity of 2,000. The theatre will be entirely re-seated, a wide promenade will be found at the rear of the house and the entrance will be altered and doors hung at the rear to exclude drafts and cold from the entrance. A new and large ladies' room will be located at the rear and new and larger exit doors will be found on either side of the big auditorium.

The stage, one of the largest in this section and capable of staging the largest road production, is modern in every way. There is sufficient height to install the necessary drops and scenes. The work of rigging the stage was done early this week by John Craker, a rigger who cares for all of the Reade chain of houses in this state and New Jersey.

Off-stage are ample dressing rooms, containing baths and proper facilities for making-up and changing costumes.

Under the stage is a room which has access to the orchestra pit and which will be used as a musicians' room. The large theatre organ has been relocated and will be operated from the orchestra pit. The organ units are located in organ lofts on either side of the stage.

In addition there are ample property rooms and storage spaces for theatre property.

The entire auditorium has been re-decorated and new drapes hung. This work of re-decorating the house was carried on simultaneously with the other work and was made possible by the erection of a gigantic scaffold which covered the entire ground floor and allowed the men to work to the best advantage. The scaffold erected by Robert Flynn was removed as rapidly as the decorating progressed back from the stage, and the work of placing the seats was taken up as rapidly as the scaffolding was removed.

Electric lighting done by Fred DeGarmo is one of the big things in the job. A special switchboard located at the right of the stage controls the various lighting effects and cares for the house lighting and the stage lighting as well. The general contract for the building was held by Frank S. Campbell who carried on the work with the utmost rapidity.

Although on Christmas day will be the film "Tin Hats" and will be continuous from 2 o'clock, the policy of the theatre will be thereafter changed.

Starting Monday, December 27, there will be Keith-Albee vaudeville and feature photoplays. The picture will be selected from the Paramount, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and other recognized producers and an effort will be made to show only the best.

Programs will be changed every Monday and Thursday, and there will be three performances daily with matinee at 2 p. m. and evening performances at 6:45 and 9 o'clock. On Saturdays and holidays the performances will be continuous from 1 until 11 o'clock.

The admission charge will be slightly increased with the introduction of vaudeville.

During the re-construction on the old portion of the building and the erection of the new portion of the building including the stage, the work has been under the personal direction of Walter Reade who has made several trips to Kingston, and through his local manager, L. A. Trider.

The public is invited to inspect the new theatre Christmas day between 1 o'clock and 2 o'clock when the first performance takes place.

Trappings and Signs Arrive.

Trappings to be used in Reade's Kingston Theatre arrived in town Tuesday evening and will be hung as soon as the work of decorating has progressed sufficiently. The new electric sign which will replace the one now over the entrance to the theatre also arrived by motor truck Tuesday evening from New York City. This sign, larger than the one now in use, will read "Reade's Kingston Theatre."

Songs at Presbiterian Church.

The Bible school of the Presbiterian Congregational Church will render a Christmas program on Thursday evening. The church has been beautifully decorated and a large tree placed in the sanctuary is really coming down the chimney. The public is invited.

Dempsey Resigns As Alderman

Mayor E. J. Dempsey, who is also alderman-at-large of the common council, on Tuesday evening filed his resignation as alderman-at-large to take effect December 31. The resignation was read at the common council meeting at which time Mayor Dempsey explained that he believed it was for the best interests of the city as if he became ill or was suddenly called out of town there was no acting mayor to act until he returned.

After some discussion the resignation was accepted with regret and Mayor Dempsey called a special meeting of the common council for next Monday evening at which time the aldermen will elect from their number a member to serve as alderman-at-large.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—Price movements again lacked uniformity in today's stock market, with the heaviness of the rails and the strength of the motors and public utilities as the contrasting features. Trading was in fairly heavy volume despite the stiffer call money rates and the departure of many traders for extended holiday trips.

The day's news developments were largely constructive with reports of record breaking holiday trade and a new series of Christmas dividends attracting the most attention. The weekly steel trade reviews reported a further slackening in demand but this was regarded as seasonal.

Heaviness of some of the standard rails was attributed to the official denial of dividend rumors concerning some of the large roads, and the publication of a few poor November earnings statements. Despite the general reactionary trend in this group, St. Louis-San Francisco common and preferred were marked up to new high levels for the year, while Erie first preferred touched the highest price in a decade.

Buying of the motors centered largely in General Motors, Nash and Hudson, being based on expectation of increased business through the sale of new models to be introduced at the New York auto show next month. Raising of the annual dividend of Julius Kayser from $3 to $4 infused new strength in the merchandise issues.

UNCLE SAVED SIX AS FIRE DESTROYED CEMENTON HOUSE.

Six children, ranging in age from three to thirteen, were rescued from their blazing bedrooms by their uncle when fire Friday night destroyed the home of Joseph Poole at Cementon. The house burned to the ground. Poole, who is employed in a Catskill factory, was at work, and his wife was in the Kingston City Hospital. The six children were asleep upstairs while the uncle slept in a room on the first floor. The fire was caused by an overloaded stove pipe from a small heater in the room occupied by the oldest child, a girl, falling upon a bed. The hot metal ignited the bedding and the girl, awakened by the smoke and heat, dragged the children who were sleeping with her from the blazing bed and screamed for her uncle.

KINGSTON'S MILK SUPPLY.

How necessary it was that the fight made by faddists and others to foist cooked milk on Kingston consumers should fall is shown by the bacteriologist's report to the Board of Health, printed in The Freeman a few days ago. According to this report there are now 11 dealers in Grade A milk and 13 dealers in Grade B pasteurized milk in the city. All are supplying milk well within the limits set by the law and there is no better milk supply in any city in the state than that of Kingston. The standards are higher than ever and it has been found possible to meet their requirements without any great increase in the price to the consumer or decrease in the cost to the producer. Consumers have still the choice of raw or cooked milk and a provision of the law forbids the pasteurization of filthy milk.

That properly cared for raw milk is not the menace to health that the faddists who came very near to controlling the Board of Health asserted it was is shown by the report. That cooking does not make milk absolutely pure is also shown. Of the 13 dealers in Grade B pasteurized milk six show a bacteria count in excess of 20,000 in their product. Of 11 dealers in Grade A only two show a bacteria count in excess of 20,000.
The average bacteria count of the 13 dealers in Grade B is 17,246.
The average for the 11 dealers in Grade A raw milk is 12,509.

These figures verify the original contention of The Freeman that it is possible to produce clean milk and that it naturally follows that the way to clean up a milk supply is to begin at the source—clean production—instead of encouraging carelessness by enforcing only measures that at best can be merely partially remedial. We now have an excellent milk supply. It is up to the Board of Health to see that it remains good, by rigidly and impartially enforcing the very excellent ordinance it enacted some time ago.

APPLES AND WHEAT.

The attempted national organization of apple growers described in the news of the day recently may or may not be the effective remedy for existing conditions in apple production or marketing. Much depends on the honesty and intelligence of those in control. If they are mere hat passers or dreamers, little good will result except to those who hold salaried positions in the organization. There are so many organizations of the kind just described that one is inclined to be skeptical. The list of men connected with the new apple boosters' union is, however, one to inspire confidence and seems to justify hoping for the best.

It is encouraging to see the apple growers trying to do something for themselves instead of bemoaning their sad fate, asserting that it is caused by oppression and unfairness, and demanding that Congress at once pass laws fixing and guaranteeing minimum apple prices, as wheat and corn growers are doing. The trouble is the same in both cases. Production has been stimulated and nothing done about promoting sales or regulating production costs. In the case of apples, competition by other fruits—oranges, bananas, lemons, dried cherries, figs, apricots and what not—has been stimulated by advertising and advanced marketing methods, while the apple grower, especially in the east, has done nothing to aid sales.

To some extent production costs have been increased by real estate speculations that have increased land valuation (not land value, which is quite a different thing) and consequently increased the amount of capital invested in orchard land. This is not so important an element in the cost of apple production and in the trouble of the fruit grower as it has been and still is in the trouble of the cattle grower.

During and after the war there was the wildest kind of speculation in mid-western farm lands and farms actually worth $50 to $100 an acre were bid up by what really amounted to what Wall Street would "cut other" until in the recentest "convulsion" they attained a fictitious price as high as $400 an acre. Much of the buying was on credit. Much of the land has been robbed of a great part of its natural fertility, without any attempt at restoration. Its productivity was diminishing rapidly and diminished productivity from land that has increased enormously in cost is not the way to success and wealth.

It needs no skilled mathematician to figure out that growing eight or ten bushels of wheat to the acre on a farm that has cost $400 an acre is not profitable. It needs no statesman or great economist to know that no amount of legislation can afford a cure for the foolishness of the men who have gotten themselves in this condition.

would you like to pay for flour the price required to make profitable the growing of eight bushels of wheat to the acre on land that must carry an interest charge of $24 an acre, in addition to taxes, cost of seed, labor and transportation?

A SOURCE OF BRONCHITIS.

Formerly in a case of bronchitis it was always blamed upon a cold in the throat, and perhaps the tonsils, and this cold was supposed then to extend down to the bronchial tubes,
and cause bronchitis.

This may still be true, but our physicians now are finding that many of these cases of bronchitis and bronchial asthma get their start from some infection in the sinuses or cavities adjoining, and connected with the nose.

Two Cleveland physicians, Drs.
Mullin and Ryder, have been able to demonstrate that the lymphatic system drained these sinuses by way of the glands in the neck and chest, and reins on right side of heart and lungs.

These glands are in close relation with the windpipe and bronchial tubes, and when they swell up with the infectious material from the sinuses above you can readily see that the pressure from them will cause cough, and also they will press on parts of the bronchial tubes, and prevent material that should be ex-pectorated, from coming up from the finer tubes in the lungs.

Now these glands gradually give up their material, and the patient gets well, but when there are repeated attacks you can see how the natural lining of the bronchial tubes, and the finer tubes, becomes thickened and loses some of its power of secretion, and the power to throw off these secretions. The lining of the sinuses becomes "thickened and soggy", and the natural drainage of material into nose, and thus out of the body is prevented to a considerable extent.

This is a most important matter in children because measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever and so forth start the trouble, and cough and bronchitis follow.

These physicians suggest that where youngsters or grown people have repeated attacks of bronchitis or asthma the sinuses should be investigated.

You will remember that our nose and throat specialists believe that the organisms that cause the common cold, grip or flu, as it is called, are often lying in a resting state in these sinuses, and get busy when wakened by sudden changes in weather, overeating, under-exercising, and so forth.

Today's Story in
New York HistoryBy
Frederic A. Godcharles.
(Copyright, 1926, by the Author)

Major Andre, Brilliant Young Officer of the British Army. Released as Prisoner of War.
December 22, 1776.

The most tragic event in American history is the treason of Benedict Arnold. This betrayal brought to grief every person who played a part in it, and as all the movements occurred within a very limited region in New York the life story of one of its victims is of interest.

Major John Andre was born in London in 1751, of Swiss-French parentage; his father was a merchant in London.

After receiving an education in Geneva, Young Andre returned, and entered a mercantile house. He was a youth of great genius, painted well and wrote poetry with fluency. His literary tastes brought to him the acquaintance of literary people.
Among these was the poetess Anna
Seward, to whose cousin, Honora Sneyd, Andre became warmly attached. They were betrothed but their youth caused a postponement of their nuptials, and Andre entered the army and came to America, in 1774, as lieutenant of the Royal Fusiliers.

On November 2, 1775, Andre was taken prisoner in St. John's, Canada, by General Richard Montgomery, and was sent to Lancaster, Penna. He was exchanged December 22, 1776, and promoted to captain;
then became aide to General Charles Grey; major in 1778; and in 1779 was aide to General Sir Henry Clinton and adjutant general of the forces in America.

His talents were appreciated, and whenever taste was to be displayed in any arrangements, the matter was left to Andre. He was the chief actor in promoting and arranging the great fete, called the Mischianza, given in honor of General Sir William Howe on his departure.

Sir Henry Clinton employed Major Andre to carry on the correspondence with General Benedict Arnold, respecting the betrayal of West Point.

After various abortive attempts at a secret interview, Andre went, up the Hudson as "John Anderson" to meet the traitor in the house of Tory Colonel Beverly Robinson, but the plan failed. Arnold succeeded in getting a packet to Andre, and while on his way to New York on horseback he was arrested near Tarrytown, conveyed to Tappan, nearly opposite.

By military law Andre was, of course, subject to immediate hanging; but in consideration of his rank, General Washington on September 29 convened a military court of six major generals and eight brigadier generals, with General Nathaniel Greene as president, who unanimously convicted him of being a spy and sentenced him to death on October 2.

Clinton did his best to save Andre, protesting that he was not a spy, because he was under a flag of truce (which was false), and that his movements were directed by General Arnold. This was a grimly humorous defense under the circumstances, but Washington replied with firm courtesy that no exceptions to the verdict were justified.

Andre died like a man, and need not be grudged our pity; but he was treated with a generous humanity curiously in contrast with the treatment accorded to Captain Nathan Hale.

It is a singular fact that the last canto of his satirical poem called
"The Cow Chase," was published in Rivington's "Royal Gazette," in New York, on September 23, 1780, the very day of his capture. It ends with the following stanza:

"And now I've closed my epic strain,
I tremble as I show it.
Lo! this same warrior-drover, Wayne."

Should ever catch the poet!"
This poem was written in General Clinton's headquarters, now No. 1 Broadway, New York city. It is not a little singular that General ("Mad") Anthony Wayne commanded the division of the Continental army at Tappan when Andre was executed.

Andre's memory has been embalmed in verse by his friend, Miss Seward, in her poem entitled "The Anniversary," who thus alludes to her cousin:

"Why fled ye all so fast, ye happy hours,
That saw Honora's eyes adorn those bowers?
These darling bowers that much she loved to hail.
The spies she called The Ladies of the Vale!"

The remains of Major Andre were August 10, 1821, removed from Tappan and deposited near his monument in Westminster Abbey.

THE GREATEST BUICK EVER BUILT

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MEAN MEASLES AGAIN

No one seemed to be noticing him. So he decided he had a good chance. It was when no one was noticing him that he hurried about to do his very, very naughty work.

You've heard of him before. His name is Mean Old Measles.

Now it was during the Christmas season when every one was busy that he thought he would just do a good, old mean trick.

That was the way he spoke of it. Any one else would have said a bad, old mean trick.

But not Mean Old Measles. He speaks and thinks and acts differently from others.

His friends are all mean, too. One of his friends is Mumps, another is Suez Sneeze and another Carrie Cough. The Tonsil Twins are his friends when they cause trouble, and a number of others.

Of course, he is not even friendly enough to talk and play and have a good time with his friends. They simply are his friends because they are mean too. Not because they go around together or see each other.

So Mean Old Measles decided he would pick out a very nice small boy this time and pay him a holiday visit.

"I'll go and see him at Christmas time," he said, and his mean old face looked meaner than ever as he spoke to himself.

"There is Edward Junior and I've never called on him before. I think I will go and see him and give him a Christmas present of the Measles."

Now you can see for yourself what a mean old creature he is when that is his idea of a Christmas present.

So he went and called on Edward Junior and he took the Measles in his

He Went and Called on Edward Junior.

bag (he had an extra supply always) and scattered them around Edward Junior.

Edward Junior felt poorly. He did not quite know why. He did not quite know the reason for it. But soon he was told that he had the Measles.

And it was as nice in his lovely home in the country that to have measles seemed so mean, so very mean.

He wondered if Santa Claus was afraid of Measles. Some people were because they got Measles when they went near any one who had them or went into a house where there was Measles.

But Edward Junior had one of the nicest Christmases in his life—and he had had several of them.

For Santa Claus had been more generous than ever. Santa Claus had come the night before Christmas and he had heard about Edward Junior's Measles.

"Well, Santa Claus never has to stay away on account of any sickness, for he had every single child's sickness years and years and years and years ago when he was a child, and now he can't have any of them."

"But he knows what they're like and he's just going to see that Edward Junior has the best Christmas in his life. And also his little brother Robert."

That was what Santa said. Santa could not stop the Measles from visiting the two boys. Little Robert celebrated New Year's Eve by getting them. He was not, so his father said, going to be outdone in anything by his big brother.

But even though Mean Old Measles came to the house where Edward Junior and Robert lived with their mother and daddy, Christmas came more gaily and gloriously and generously than ever.

Santa Claus could not be shoved out of the way by Mean Old Measles or any one.

Never. Never. Never!

"Oh, dear," said Helen as the dust came on. "Mamma, why didn't you tell me there was ice cream for dinner?"

"What difference does it make?" asked mother.

"Oh, lots," said Helen with a sigh. "I wouldn't have wasted my stomach on that other stuff."—Copper's Weekly.

INDIAN LEGEND OF SPIRIT OF HUDSON

Woman's Good Deed Rewarded by Immortality.

An old Indian legend of the Hudson valley tells of the Spirit of the Hudson. It was current among the Mohicans who considered themselves descendants of the Great Spirit. They also thought the valley was the red man's paradise. As the legend goes, the tribe journeyed eastward from the land of the setting sun to the shores of the Hudson many years before the advent of the white man. With the tribe went Minne-Wa-Wa, mother of Evening Star, the chief, and grandmother of Osseo. Then while hunting deer in the mountains west of the river Osseo and his father were overtaken by darkness, and in the night both were destroyed by Mishemokwa, the naked bear.

In her grief Wa-bun-an-nung, wife of the chief and mother of Osseo, became demented and wandered away in the woods. She was captured by the little men who appear at twilight and disappear at dawn, who placed her in the eastern sky, where she became the morning star. Minne-wa-wa went to the spot in the mountains where the hunters had perished, and fearing that other hunters might meet the naked bear and the same fate, she gave to the little swamp flies the tiny lamps which they flash. But seeing that these fireflies were useful only in the damp hollows they usually roam, she climbed to the mountain top and from its peak hung in the western sky the bow of her dead son, and it became the crescent moon.

From this deed the Great Spirit saw that she thought only of the good of her people, so he made her an immortal spirit and gave her eternal domination over the mountains and entrusted to her the dispensing of storm and sunshine in the valley of the Hudson forever. She is supposed to keep the day and night shut up in her lodge on the highest peak, releasing only one at a time. The dew of the evening are her tears shed for the lost hunters, and she shakes from her mantle of cloud the rain and snow. She also hangs up a new moon in the sky every month. This done, she cuts the old moon in little pieces which she scatters over the sky to become stars.
—Pathfinder Magazine

Grand Old Name

A-Sab-El Widden of Salem, N. H., has never been known to complain about his name being too common. But he had to be married 60 years before he was to discover that it is the rarest name in history.

A Biblical character bore the same name more than 2,000 years ago and as far as can be learned no one, with the exception of Mr. Widden, has had it since. All this was brought to light recently when Dr. Charles Tilton, pastor of the Salem Baptist church, visited Mr. Widden on the occasion of his sixtieth wedding anniversary.

"It's a great old name," says Mr. Widden—"and do you know what it means? Well, it's a Hebrew phrase for 'God Made Him.'"
—Lawrence Telegram

Japan's Air Forces

The air forces of Japan are definitely out of their nursery now. Perhaps the most remarkable thing about it all is the short time they took in getting out of it. They were actually in their swaddling clothes in 1910—even after the World war. . . . The really serious efforts for the expansion of the air service dates from 1924; it represents the downright serious work of only two years. The remarkable thing about our aviation, therefore, is the rapidity of its growth. Within two short years the progress of Japanese aviation is as sensational as any yellow-journalists could wish.
—Adachi Kinsuichi, Japanese Journalist, in the Outlook.

Horses

Horses have not been driven into oblivion by the automobile. If one is to draw any conclusions whatever from the enrollment statistics of the school of veterinary medicine at the University of Pennsylvania this year, approximately 60 students are now registered in that institution who plan to become future veterinarians to take care of the horses. This is a slight increase over the number enrolled last year. Horses passing out of the picture? The veterinary surgeons say: "No—not by a horse's neck."

The Best Radio Is Better With Philco Socket Power

Compact, beautifully designed and accurately controlled, the radios of today have won confidence and a permanent place in the home.

Yet, the best radio loses volume and clearness as the energy of the batteries decreases. While atmospheric effect is not yet under control, radio dependability has been greatly increased with Philco Socket Power which eliminates battery trouble.

The Philco Socket Power plugs into any light socket or convenience outlet, and transforms the current into constant, unfailing, uniform "A" and "B" energy.

It makes unnecessary the disconnecting and recharging of an "A" battery, for Philco begins to charge automatically and silently as soon as your set is turned off. It also keeps your "B" supply at par all the while your set is in operation.

Philco makes the best radio better by maintaining its full power all the time. It operates any set, whether of the storage or dry cell variety, with equal success. If you prefer, you can secure Philco for either the "A" or "B" circuit separately.

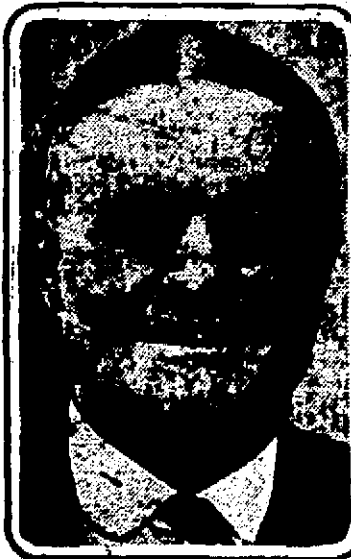

During the holiday season, Philco is offered for $5.00 down with six months to complete payment — and an allowance is made for your old battery.

Philco prices, including expert installation, are: for a 6 volt "A" circuit $38.50; for "B" circuit $37.50; for combining "B" circuit and 6 volt "A" circuit $71.50; for combining "B" circuit and 3 volt "A" circuit, $62.00. Discount for cash payment.

*Phone for a home demonstration of Philco during broadcast hours.

HOME OF MILLIONAIRE IS MADE UNHAPPY BY CUPID

Daughter Living in Poverty as Result of Unhappy Marriage—Two Sons Sent from Home.

London—Winning world fame with its riches and by occupying a place high in the foreign social and sport world, the house of Solomon Joel has been wrecked by an equally famous figure known as Dan Cupid. For Joel's great wealth sent two sons from his home, one to die in Egypt's desert heat, and his favorite daughter is now in poverty following an unfortunate marriage.

Joel is known as the one big South African mine owner. He owns diamond mines, gold mines, platinum mines, street railways, South African office buildings, collieries, steamship lines, and cattle ranches. His worldly possessions gave his family everything they could wish for—except happiness. The first shock came when Joel was told by Arthur Walter, young London stockbroker, that he had married Doris Joel seven months previously, despite Joel's opposition when permission was asked at that time. The angry father told the daughter, once his favorite, never to appear in his sight again. The young lovers lived happily for a time until their baby died. Then she won a divorce on misconduct grounds. Without funds, she wanders about England with friends who recently saved her from prison by paying her taxes.

Then came the second grim blow. Solly Joel left his home and fled to Egypt, where he met Lord Carnarvon and filmed the historic opening of King "Tut's" tomb. Soon afterward Solly died.

And now Stanhope Joel has followed his sister, Doris, into arousing the ire of his parents. Without their consent he has married Miss Gladys McPeden, of Philadelphia. Heated words were the result, and Stanhope has departed to earn his own living.

One son and one daughter remain at the hearthside. If anything happens to either of them, it is freely predicted "Solly Joel will crack."

Tells How Ludendorff,
Disguised, Fled Country

Berlin.—An amazing story of how Gen. Erich Ludendorff fled from Germany when the revolution impeded in 1918 in the guise of a then recently deceased Finnish diplomat, is told by Dr. Edward Hjelt, former Finnish minister to Berlin.

Ludendorff, fearing for his life at the hands of revolutionists, quit the army and appealed through the foreign office to Doctor Hjelt for protection. Doctor Hjelt said he obtained for the general a diplomatic passport in the name of Ernst Lindstrom, "counselor of the ministry." He then prescribed that Ludendorff shave off his mustache and dress himself in a smart business suit, felt hat and colored horn-rimmed glasses. They would make him look exactly like the late Finnish diplomat, Lindstrom, whose death was not generally known, and whose name, though well known, would certainly be mistaken by border authorities for "Lindstrom," slovenly written.

Doctor Hjelt said he engineered Ludendorff's escape with the knowledge and consent of the Finnish minister of war.

Gas Attack Wipes Out
Army Warehouse Rats

Washington.—A battle between the United States army at Jeffersonville, Ind., and the "enemy" in the shape of moths and rats, has resulted in complete victory for the chemical warfare troops; the War department has been advised officially.

The engagement was staged as an experiment to demonstrate that gases produced by the chemical warfare service have unknown peace-time value. The depot warehouse, selected for the test was overrun with moths and rodents who were ravaging the thousands of dollars' worth of blankets and other supplies stored there.

In the mopping up that followed the attack, it was found that the "enemy" not only had suffered 100 per cent fatalities but that the gas also had destroyed the moth larvae.

Milk Bottle for Governor Smith

Corning, N. Y., Dec. 22 (AP).—Governor Smith will receive a unique gift this Christmas, the package having been mailed to the Executive Mansion.

The gift is a regular sized milk bottle, made of crystal glass at Steuben glass works, Corning's noted art glass manufactory. The neck is cut in sloping fashion and on one side appeared the engraved letters "Lucky grade A milk" while on the other "Compliments of Corning Democratic City committee 1924." The bottle was suggested as the result of the recent campaign when New York's milk situation developed as an issue by the governor's opponents, but fell through.

Eat just enough to appease hunger. That's enough.

Fashion is largely the life of trade as well as competition.

Contentment should come when it is too late to harbor ambition.

People who never do a thing all day often get the earliest.

Judge ye not, that ye be not judged; but we all expect to be judged.

THE LONG LIFE BATTERY FOR YOUR CAR

Answered!

The three vital questions in buying a good battery

THERE is an easy way to make certain that your next battery will give the utmost satisfaction. All you have to do is make a decision on three main points: 1. Reputation of the product. 2. Extent and efficiency of the service. 3. Price. Put the Exide to these three tests and this is what you find:

First point: Exides have served the motoring public with distinction since the pioneer days of electric starting, lighting and ignition. Exides are made by the world's largest manufacturers of storage batteries for every purpose, a leadership maintained year after year by building batteries that last an exceptionally long time and seldom if ever need repairs. Exide's position in the battery field is a guarantee that the Exide you buy contains every improvement that the highest engineering skill endorses.

Second point: When an Exide needs attention there is an Exide dealer always handy, to give you courteous and efficient service—more than 8000 dealers all over the United States. Third point: Exides are priced surprisingly low. You pay no more for the long-life Exide than you do for batteries with less claim to distinction.

The Exide is the logical battery to buy. Sold by Exide dealers everywhere.

RADIO.... There is an Exide Radio Battery of the right size for every car and a type for every tube. See the new Exide Radio Power Unit, consisting of an "A" Battery and special charger, that keeps itself charged from your house current.

Get Plates Now And Avoid Delay

Owners of Motor Vehicles Who Procrastinate Will Find Trouble Piling Up When They Do Apply for 1927 License Plates.

Automobile owners who have not secured their 1927 license plates are asked to do so as soon as possible. By so doing much confusion and unnecessary trouble will be avoided, for the late applicant will be forced to wait a considerable length of time before his license is issued due to the enormous number of predicted late applications.

It is just a case of "putting it off 'till tomorrow" with most of the late applicants, for they are unmindful of the near approach of the new year and do not give a thought to the fact that owners of cars will not be permitted to operate their autos with 1926 plates after December 31. The 1927 plates may be applied on December 27 and it would be well for owners of cars who have not yet obtained new license plates at once to mail a check or money order for them to the local Motor Vehicle Bureau, 237 Fair street.

Much congestion and possible embarrassment may be avoided by getting the licenses now. The last-minute applicants, of whom there will be many by the looks of the present lists, will be deprived of the use of their cars if they have not 1927 plates to put on their autos on January 1 and should they attempt to drive with the old plates arrest will follow and the authorities threaten to be severe with the persons who have had plenty of time to secure the new plates.

New Memorials at Holy Cross Church

Rare Art to be Blended at Midnight
Mass—In Memory of Allen Hamilton
Smith—Beautiful Musical Program.

At the Church of the Holy Cross Christmas will be ushered in by the Midnight Mass, rendered with all the splendor of ceremonial and music appropriate to such an occasion. Immediately preceding the Mass two superb floor lights for the sanctuary, and seven sanctuary lamps will be blessed, in memory of Allen Hamilton Smith, late son of Mrs. George DeForest Smith and brother of Dr. Martin DeForest Smith, who was as a boy and young man an altar boy at Holy Cross. He died in January, 1920.

The two floor lights are of hand-wrought iron of most delicate and intricate design, patterned after two such candlesticks in the Cooper Museum and originally made for an Italian Cathedral. They stand eight feet high, from base to candlelip; and are beautifully polychromed, non in color. They require a candle four inches in diameter. They were made by an artist in iron, A. Za-low. These two great lights symbolize Jesus Christ true God and true Man. The seven sanctuary lamps are also of hand-wrought iron, beautifully filigreed and colored. They bespeak the Seven Gifts of the Holy Ghost and are burnt in honor of the Blessed Sacrament. They were made in Lucca, Italy. Both lamps and candlesticks are in keeping with the beautiful high altar and other sanctuary furnishings which have been placed in Holy Cross recently, and are after the advice of the artist, Angelo Luaidi, who designed and executed the Van Wagenen Memorial altar.

The church will have been handsomely decorated with tall, slender cedars, twenty feet in height, placed at intervals in the side aisles. The creche, depicting the Nativity scene, will be set up in the chapel of the Sacred Heart. The blessing of the memorials will begin at 11:30 p. m., Christmas eve, and the Midnight Mass will immediately follow. Walter J. Kidd, Jr., will direct the music and preside at the organ while the choir will sing West's Mass in E Flat and the carols. The music program is as follows:

Prelude—Pastorale Symphony—Handel
Blessing of the Memorials—Plainsong
Introit—O Come, All Ye Faithful—Cantata Diversi
Kyrie Eleison (Mass in E Flat)—John E. West
Gloria in Excelsis (Mass in E Flat)—West
Sequence—O Little Town of Bethlehem—Rodner
Credo (Mass in E Flat)—West
Offertory—Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence—Old French Carol
Sanctus and Benedictus (Mass in E Flat)—West
Agnus Dei (Mass in E Flat)—West
Adoration carol—Jesus, Gentlest Savior—Barling-Gould
During Holy Communion: The Shepherd—Cornelius
Jesu Bambino—Mr. Clearwater
Recessional—Holy Night—Mr. La Tour
Postlude—Toccata (from Fifth Symphony)—Widor

The rector of the parish will be celebrant, Fr. Stewart Bert will be deacon of the Mass, and the Rev. Harcourt Johnson will be subdeacon.

Two other Masses for Holy Communion will be celebrated on Christmas Day, 7:30 a. m. and 9:00 a. m. The children's festival will take place on Wednesday, December 23.

"Overhead" Expenses

Speaking in general terms, by overhead is meant those items of general expense of a manufacturing plant (the instance) which are additional to the cost of the labor and material actually entering into the production of the plant. For example, under overhead it is usual to group salaries of officials and clerical and other employees not directly concerned in producing, office expenses, all indirect labor, traveling expenses of salesmen, interest, insurance, legal expenses, care of plant; depreciation also frequently is included under such head.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors and also the Glee Society of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church for the many acts of kindness and for the beautiful floral tributes during the illness and death of Mrs. Celia DeMond.

SPICY SAYINGS

If you would enjoy much, scatter much enjoyment.

There is no fool like an old fool who tries to act like a young fool.

The architect of his own future never tires of planning extensions.

A word to the wise may be sufficient, but they seldom get off that easily.

It always hurts a young man a little when a girl acquaintance tells him she is engaged.

It's enough to discourage the fool-kicker when he looks around and sees how far behind he is with his work.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

You can always tell a donkey by his lack of horse sense.

Conflicting testimony is but another name for the expert article.

A woman never forgives a man his failure to ask to be forgiven.

Ignorance may be bliss, but love speaks the mother tongue of everybody.

The man who poses as a lion in society is usually a bear at home.

Silver must be the kind of money that talks, as silence is said to be golden.

The average woman spends more time than money when she goes shopping.

A girl often wonders if a certain young man wonders if she is thinking of him.

Our respect for old age depends greatly on whether it is applied to men and women or to boarding-house poultry.

FLASHES IN THE PAN

It is true that we live in an age of materialism. The chief tragedy of this lies in the quality of the material.

Who would not rather believe a charming theory than a sound one?

A first-edition book—one who judges a book by its cover.

Is it possible that we are growing surlier over our sentimentalities? What has become of the comic valentine?

Has the grandeur of yesterday become the ridicule of today?

Did they speak of the "good old days" in the "good old days"?

Who is as dull a conversationalist as the one who tells nothing but the truth?

Would a dancer's diary consist mainly of footnotes?

PHILOSOPHICAL

He who boasts of his descent punishes the deeds of another.—Seneca.

Give not robes to your indamed passions; take time and a little delay; impetuosity manages all things badly.—Statius.

The world is a wheel, and it will all come round right.—Dante.

Y. W. C. A. Girls Celebrate Xmas Xmas Dinners

On Saturday afternoon the Y. W. C. A. Girls celebrated Christmas with a party for boys and girls who had been invited by the Business Girls' Club which was assisted generously by many other Y. W. C. A. members.

The children, 125 of them, arrived at 2 o'clock in automobiles—a joyous beginning of the eventful afternoon—having been called for by Y. W. members. The children were of all ages, very much excited, curious, eager. Familiar singing games were played happily and then ice cream was served. As the last bit was swallowed, Santa Claus arrived and was enthusiastically greeted. After shaking hands with all the children, Santa went over to a long table spread under the beautiful, lighted Christmas tree, and on that table were discovered toys for each boy and girl. As Santa Claus called their names, shining-eyed children hurried up to claim dolls, automobiles, books, tool sets, sewing kits, etc. When all of the gifts had been distributed and mittens, caps and coats had been claimed from the cloak room, Santa Claus took his stand at the door and by way of good-bye gave each child a stocking filled with candy, pop corn and an orange.

Girl Reserves.

On Tuesday afternoon the Girl Reserves from the grade schools had their Christmas party at the Y. W. C. A. from 4 to 6:30 o'clock. About 75 girls attended. The party began with games and relay races in which the girls were led by Miss Yerna. After the games, a simple but beautiful and impressive Christmas pageant was given, entitled, "Unto us a Child is Born." As some one played on the piano, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," the curtains in front of the stage were parted, showing a beautiful tableau. In the center of the stage was a manger-bed over which the Madonna bent, the radiant light shining in her face, and Joseph stood near. The part of Mary was taken by Margaret O'Connor, and that of Joseph by Regina Farlan. Four angels then came slowly forward carrying lighted tapers. They took their places behind the manger as "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" was played on the piano. The girls taking the part of the angels were: Maude Hopper, Eleanor Lawatch, Virginia Minasian, and Leonora Gordon. One of the angels read the story of the shepherds and wise men from the Gospel according to St. Luke.

To the strains of "The First Noel," three shepherds—Dorothy Thompson, Evelyn Ellsworth, Rosamonde Lampan—came and looked into the manger, then knelt in adoration. They were followed by the three wise men of the Orient represented by Molly DuBois, Elena Rider, Inez Roosa, bearing their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh which they laid before the manger. As they knelt in adoration all of the Girl Reserves sang softly, "Silent Night, Holy Night."

Following the pageant the girls practiced the carols which they will sing for many Kingston people on Christmas eve, as with their advisors, they visit various neighborhoods of the city. The afternoon for the Girl Reserves ended happily with the serving of refreshments.

Next week, several groups of Y. W. girls are planning Christmas entertainments for the Tuberculosis Hospital, Home for the Aged, and other places.

Cornwall's Tin Mines

Deposits of tin in Cornwall have been known since the very beginning of history. Tradition has it that the Phoenicians went there for their supplies of tin, and attempts have been made to fix in that region the Castles of tin in the islands of the ancients. The mines, however, have had their periods of depression. Queen Elizabeth found it necessary to introduce German workers to reinvigorate the industry, which, by the way, has occasionally produced gold from among the deposits of less valuable metal.

CAUSE for a little "cussing." But no need of actually darning the stocking because it's a Gotham Gold Stripe. The repair service offered by Gotham gives second or third life to your hosiery. There are no premature deaths. Runs can be mended and even new heels and toes insured, all for a very nominal charge.

Funds Still Needed to Secure Baskets Dinners for Needy Families—Baskets Must Be Ready Friday.

Although the people have been kind and liberal in contributing to the needs of the Salvation Army this year, Ensign Ralph Miller and his workers have not reaped enough yet from the kettles to provide for all the families who depend altogether upon this organization for their Christmas cheer. There are only a few more days left to gather the money that will be transformed into Christmas dinners and the fund will have to mount up rapidly if all the needy families are to have a happy Christmas. Friday morning the baskets must be ready to send out.

There are few families that will not have their tables abundantly filled on this day and these others can make less fortunate families equally as happy by mailing a check to the Salvation Army. The Salvation Army has worked faithfully to prepare for these needy families but it depends altogether upon the citizens to fill the kettles and make the fulfillment of this good work possible.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

Reception last night was better than in several days. There was no static and little interference of any kind. At The Governor Clinton Manager Wartman tuned in WRC shortly after 6 o'clock and it was still going at 11, having very little fading or interruption.

Even that usually difficult station, WMC, was heard. This evening at 7 Santa Claus will broadcast from WDBZ his final 1926 message to the children.

Mass singing of Christmas carols by 4,000 Schenectady school children will be broadcast by WGY, Thursday afternoon, December 23, for a period of a half hour beginning 12:30.

Admiral, Lost at Sea, Makes Ghostly Visits

There are few ghosts now left in London. Even the famous phantom to Berkeley square seems to be at rest. So with surprise I learnt, when dining a few nights ago in Eaton place, that the house was a haunted one. Once it was the home of an admiral and his wife. Now it is split up into flats. It is of the upper part that this strange tale is told. One night, when the admiral was on the high seas, his wife gave a party. All at once one of the guests, a naval man, turned to the hostess and exclaimed, "How well the admiral is looking tonight."

The admiral's wife laughed lightly and said, "But my husband's not here. You've mistaken someone else for him. He's at sea, you know." But later, other guests, one after another, referred casually to the admiral's presence. She grew puzzled and disconcerted.

Next day she heard by cable that her husband had gone down with his ship.

Not only then, but on many occasions since, on the anniversary of his death, the admiral has appeared in what used to be the great drawing room of the house. That, at any rate, is the story I heard at the dinner party. An elderly woman who sat next to me seemed to be a convinced believer in ghosts. "The admiral comes into the room, smiles, walks through it, walks back again, and then is seen no more."—London Sketch.

Emerson Ideal Host to Weekly Visitors

Ralph Waldo Emerson used to open the study in his Concord home to visitors one day of each week during the winter. Chairs for the accommodation of the company would be ranged in a circle, and the farmers and shopkeepers of the neighborhood, as well as the Lowell, Helms, Alcotts and Longfellow would occupy them side by side. At the head of the ring would sit Emerson, one leg crossed over the other knee, and such was their length and flexibility that he could raise the one around the other, so that the upper feet caught behind the lower ankle. Then, leaning forward on his elbow, he would willingly receive questions and make observations. But he did not permit himself monologues. An Alcott could not help doing, but was rather courteous and genial, liking better to hear than to speak.—Julian Hawthorne in the Dearborn Independent.

Nyack Ferry Stops.

Four stops between Nyack and Tarrytown Tuesday was suggested for the winter because of the heavy ice in Tappan Zee bay, the widest part of the Hudson river. This year's closing of the service was between two and three weeks earlier than usual.

About the Folks

The many friends of Mrs. Henry Timm, of Washington avenue, will be glad to know that she is able to be around again after being sick with the grip for two weeks.

Got Into the Wrong House

A practical joker in Sydney recently suggested to a friend that he should make a spectacular entry at a party by climbing down the chimney of the house. The victim agreed to do so, but he was shocked when he dropped through the fireplace and discovered he had been led to the wrong house.

Society Notes

Lowell Club Christmas Meeting. The Lowell Club held its Christmas meeting at the home of Miss Fuller on Albany avenue on Tuesday afternoon and had a delightful time. The house was beautifully decorated with Christmas greens, etc., and there was a program which included the singing of Christmas carols, several violin selections played by Mrs. Cuthbert, accompanied by Mrs. Elting; the reciting of Christmas poems by Mrs. Steiner and the reading of O. Henry's well known Christmas story by Mrs. Conklin. Then there was a Christmas tree and gifts for each club member. Santa Claus being present. Finally delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Virgil B. Van Wageningen, president of the club, and Mrs. Adams presiding at the Christmas tea table. The first 1927 meeting of the Lowell Club will be on January 4, with Mrs. Childer.

Chambers-Gandy.

The St. Petersburg, Florida, Times of Tuesday, December 14, says: The wedding of Miss Marian Gandy and Leon E. Chambers of Kingston, N. Y., was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, 817 Beach drive, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Only relatives and very close friends were present. Mrs. George Garven, Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and the bride was given in marriage by her father, George S. Gandy. The Rev. Harrison E. Juniper, pastor of the Congregational Church, performed the single ring ceremony. George Garven, Jr., acted as best man. The bridal party entered the front parlor of the attractive Gandy home to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. W. W. Williams at the piano. The bride was lovely in her white velvet and lace wedding gown. Her bodice was of velvet and tight fitting. The skirt was full, long and of white lace with a shorter silver lace skirt beneath. Her veil was worn in coronet style. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Mrs. Garven wore an attractive gown of rose-colored satin with blue and silver lace. Her bouquet was pink roses. Immediately following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Chambers left on an automobile trip through Florida. They will return here December 24, remaining in St. Petersburg until February 1, after which they will go to Kingston, N. Y., to make their home. The Gandy home was decorated with white chrysthemums and ferns and the setting was attractive. Following the wedding, an informal reception was tendered the newly wedded couple and the wedding cake was cut. The bride is a popular member of the city's younger social set and her pre-nuptial days were marked by a number of delightful events in her honor. She graduated from St. Petersburg High School, attended Mary Lyons College at Swarthmore and West Virginia University. She is a member of the Alpha Xi Delta Sorority. Mr. Chambers is engaged in the automobile business in Kingston, N. Y. The bride's going away costume was dark blue with tan trimmings and accessories. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Walter Wilkinson, Cambridge, Md., a sister of the bride.

Rotarians Receive Gifts from Santa

Rotary luncheon at the Governor Clinton this week was followed by a Christmas program of an exceedingly varied nature. Mrs. Arthur Wicks, with Mrs. William S. Elling at the piano, sang several solos appropriate to the season. The Rotarians sang Christmas carols, led by Dr. Seeley, E. Frank Flanagan arrived late with an authentic Santa Claus, borrowed for the occasion, in tow and after Santa Claus had given each good little boy a pretty picture book Kenneth Everett supervised the distribution by Santa of Christmas gifts to the members. These gifts were in every case appropriate to the person receiving them and each gift was accompanied by a verse of real, made to order poetry that was even more personal and appropriate than the gift, establishing Mr. Everett as a poet who can and does write as Tennyson or Bryant never did.

Somewhere in between these acts was sandwiched a suspension of the rules and a collection that made the Salvation Army's Christmas fund $50 better off than it was before.

Among the visitors was Ernest R. Acker of Poughkeepsie, a former member of the Kingston Rotary Club.

Rings of Sun and Moon

There are two kinds of rings about the sun and moon. Those that are close in—only one to four or five diameters of the moon, say, away—which we will call coronas, are caused by water droplets. The smaller the droplets, the larger the ring. The other rings, the true halos, occurring much farther away, are caused by ice crystals. There are several such rings, but each one always has the same angular size. This size depends on the shape of the crystal (usually, but not always, a short six-sided column with flat ends perpendicular to the sides), the course of the light through the crystal, and the amount of bending this light undergoes as it enters a face of the crystal at a given slope.

During the evening the holiday spirit was present when the members of the court brought gifts to the meeting for the Children's Home. Following the meeting a banquet was served and several addresses were made.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Beall McCandless died at the Benedictine Hospital on Tuesday. He had been a resident of Shokan since last August. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker James V. Halloran and taken to New York city today for cremation at the New York and New Jersey Crematory.

Mrs. Marietta Howgate, widow of Henry J. Howgate, died at the home of her son, Dr. C. W. Howgate, Tuesday morning of heart failure. She was seventy-nine years old. She was a native of Esopus, Ulster county. She is survived by her son and a grandson, Dr. Otis H. Howgate, of Sound View Terrace, Greenwich. The funeral will be held Thursday morning at the First Presbyterian Church, Greenwich, the Rev. Dr. Frank A. Hosmer, the pastor, officiating. Interment in Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery.

Ellen Marjorie Drake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lansing Drake of Kingston, died suddenly at her home on Wall street on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Drake had been an invalid for several years, but her death was unexpected and came as a great shock to her family and friends. Two years ago upon the advice of her doctors she went to Tucson, Arizona, hoping that the climate would benefit her health. Following an operation in New York about a year ago, Miss Drake showed marked improvement and it was hoped that she was on the way to complete recovery. She had spent the day preparing Christmas presents for her many friends and the end came in the late afternoon. Ellen Marjorie Drake graduated from the Kingston High School and later from Miss Hunter's School in New York and spent some time travelling in Europe. For two years she conducted a kindergarten in Kingston but during the war she entered training at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York city. Following the war she held a secretarial position with the Century Company in New York city. However, she was interested in many phases of life in Kingston. For many years Miss Drake had a class of boys in the Sunday school of St. John's Church of which she was a devout member. She was also a charter member of the Kingston Junior League and served for some time as secretary of the Ulster Garden Club. Besides her parents she is survived by her brother, William Kenyon Drake of Jacksonville, Florida. The funeral, which will be held from the late residence on Wall street at 2:30 p. m., on Friday, December 24, will be private, but her friends and relatives are invited to attend. Those wishing to view the remains may do so between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock, on Friday morning.

High-Sounding Names

Given to Foundling

So long as there are foundlings doubtless there will be the problem: what to name them.

Recently the Lewisham board of guardians, in England, tried a more elaborate device—with rather complicated results, according to newspaper reports. An infant was found abandoned in a motor car, and, striving to find a name that should contain a reference to the history of the case, one member of the board suggested that the baby be called Alice Motor. Another member urged that they choose a "decent name," and then still another objected that as yet they didn't know whether the foundling was a girl or a boy.

The chairman of the board thought it was a girl. But the deputy clerk, "having made inquiries," made the emphatic announcement that the child was a boy. This detail established the quest of a name was resumed.

"In what part of the High street was the child discovered?" asked a board member, reminding the assembled company that "we had a child discovered in Lewisham park some years ago and called it Park."

The clerk said the child had been found near the King's hall. "Call it George King," some one ventured. And since the discovery had been made close to Granville park, another thought the boy should be named George Granville. Compromise ended in the bestowal of a very grand name indeed: George Granville King. And as such it was duly christened by the chaplain.

Lasting Monument to

Glory of Early Rome

In Djem, Tunis, contains one of the most Roman monuments in North Africa, an emblem of five stories, the third largest in the world. Situated on a plain near the desert frontier, it can be seen many miles off rising like a mountain of stone, dominating the surrounding landscape, and completely dwarfing the shabby little Arab village at its base.

The immense pillars and blocks of stone used in its construction had to be hauled over specially built roads by an army of slaves and teams of oxen from quarries twenty miles away. The Roman occupation ceased at the end of the Third century, but this massive, well-preserved structure still stands, a silent and enduring witness to past glory.

No trace of the luxurious city of Thapaeus remains, which, with its 50,000 inhabitants, once occupied the site of the present-day ruined village of Djem. Nor do the surrounding empty plains, with some scattered ruins, help us to visualize the stately population of towns and fertile fields of former days.—Christian Science Monitor.

Captured After 12 Hours Fight

Clinton, N. J., Dec. 21 (AP).—Two brothers and their sister, who for 12 hours withstood the attack of thirty state troopers on their farm house on the foot of Jugtown mountain, at land, near here, were captured today when the officers made a concerted rush on the house.

James and Beatrice Meany were slightly wounded by the fire which the troopers poured into the rambling old house throughout the night in reply to volleys from the occupants. Timothy Meany was uninjured. The three offered no resistance when the troopers broke into the house.

The fight between the farmers and officers started yesterday afternoon when two agents for the S. P. C. A. went to the farm to investigate complaints of mistreatment of cattle. The brothers refused to allow the agents to inspect the stock and they obtained a search warrant.

Woman Killed by Auto.

Mrs. Aaron Feldman of Brooklyn, while walking on the side of the road at West Athens Saturday afternoon was struck by an automobile, dying several hours later of her injuries. The car was driven by Ralph Guida of the West Athens Hotel.

Couple Separate After 49 Years

Franklin, Pa., Dec. 21 (AP).—On the threshold of their fiftieth wedding anniversary Grove Guild, 71, and his wife of 49 years, Mrs. Della Guild, 67, were living apart today, while Guild's action for divorce was pending in the Venango county court.

Guild charged his wife deserted him after quarrels in which she accused him unjustly of improper conduct with other women. Mrs. Guild countered with a charge that her aged helpmate wants a divorce to marry another woman and with failure to provide her suitable clothes.

"It seems a shame that they can't stay together long enough to have their golden wedding anniversary," Judge Parker remarked in reserving decision.

Florida Rum Plot Smashed

West Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 21 (AP).—One of the biggest liquor conspiracies in the history of Florida has been smashed, according to a message of the state's federal prohibition headquarters today.

Sheriff Joe D. Knight of Indian River county, his chief deputy and fourteen others are under arrest and nine rum running vessels with cargoes of 30,000 quarts of whiskey are under seal in Lake Worth waters near the town of Lake Worth. Federal agents announced that other developments are imminent.

The agents, "under cover" men and administrative officials, working with the Coast Guard in an investigation of weeks, said they had uncovered evidence revealing a widespread conspiracy involving state officials.

SCHOOL NO. 6 P. T. A. HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 6 held a regular business meeting Tuesday afternoon in the school. The parents were entertained after the meeting by the pupils of the first and second grades who presented them with the delightful program. A piano solo, Humoresque, was played by Gladys Blaggett. Principal H. A. Mizer gave a report of the activities of the institution of interest to the parents. The prizes given to the room having the largest number of parents at the meeting were awarded to the classes taught by the Misses Bengartz and Bailey. The customary Christmas gift was given to the school by the association and consisted of Victoria records for the upper grades and several Christmas trees and candy for the little ones.

MENT'S FIND STILL IN OPERATION AT HOME

Rome, N. Y., Dec. 21 (AP).—Detective agents late yesterday afternoon made a raid on an abandoned farmhouse a few miles east of Rome and found a fully equipped still, a thousand gallons of alcohol and much. The value of the plant and the products found is placed at $100,000. The plant was in full operation but the operators evidently noticed the approach of the raiders, had taken a hasty departure and the place was completely deserted. Arrests are expected within a day or two.

U. S. Chapter of Knights of Malta

New York, Dec. 21 (AP).—The sovereign order of the Knights of Malta, one of the oldest and most important Catholic orders, has formed an American chapter which plans to hold its first meeting shortly after the first of the year.

The certificate of membership, issued on authority of Pope Pius XI by Prince Galeazzo Von Thun Und Hohenstein, grand master of the order, has been received by James J. Phelan of Boston, who has been designated master of the American chapter.

The American chapter is the first to be created in more than a century in any part of the world, and, in keeping with ancient custom, its membership will be limited to about 25 persons. Establishment of the American chapter marks the first time that membership has been extended to lay members of the church not of noble lineage.

The membership includes Nicholas F. Brady, president of the New York Edison Company, and Patrick E. Crowley, president of New York Central Railroad.

On Fashions

Pleated Laces, Especially When Black, Are the Mode—Wide Flouncing in Thigh for the Skirt and Hanging in Bellows Laces for the Bodice Are Worth Noting.

Paris—There is nothing new in the practice of using both sides of a material in constructing a dress. It is a detail so often noted at present, however, that it seems deserving of mention. Chanel, Vionnet, and others of the haute couture accent their lines by contrast, not only in colors but in surfaces, and while it more often seems that the dull side was used for the frock and the satin for its trimming, one finds this arrangement reversed on occasion.

There is still a good deal of crepe satin evidenced in winter fashions, although on the whole it seems secondary to dull surfaces. All members of the crepe family, in wool as well as silk, have sponsors of style consequence.

Black gowns usually have an interesting bit of color about them and it is red more often than not. Chanel introduces a red buckle at the belt of a smart black dress, the blouse of which is cut like a bolero. It must be mentioned in this connection that the straight bolero has attained prominence, being particularly favored for the back.

Lace dresses made of wide flouncing have a pleasing way of having their bodies made of the lace, gathered, even pleated, and hanging straight below a normal waist-line. Several of these dresses, notably one from Lelong, have long tight lace sleeves, the long-sleeved gown, excepting for formal events, being decidedly the mode.

It seems that lace has returned in great variety, but in rather a sameness of color. With the execution of metal laces, the choice lies between black and twine-colored laces, with a tendency to deeper tones. One finds some dyed laces, frequently in brown tones, but it is the black lace gown which has the approval of Paris. Lace is very often pleated, sometimes bordered with a fabric, which in perhaps pleated in one with the lace.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(A 1924 Western Magazine Item.)

What do you think the wind says as it whistles in the sky, Making the dead leaves dance and spin, throwing them up on high?

What does it say in the branches, teasing them to and fro? "Come out and play," it whistles, as the seasons come and go.

—M. D. Cole.

CANDY-MAKING TIME

When the chill winds of winter send us indoors, the children like to make candy in the kitchen. Here are some recipes for them and some recipes for older ones to try:

Peach Blossom Popcorn Balls—Boil one cupful of white sirup with a tablespoonful of vinegar until it becomes brittle in water, add a few drops of red coloring and boil up again. Have ready freshly popped corn in a large pan, buttered. Turn the hot sirup over it and stir to distribute the sirup. When cool enough to handle butter the hands and form into balls, pressing them into shape as one does marzipan.

Salt Water Taffy—Put one and one-fourth pounds of sugar, the same of white sirup with one pint of water on to boil, stir until the boiling begins. Wash down the sides of the saucepan with a damp cloth and continue boiling, without stirring, until brittle. Take from the fire, add one tablespoonful of butter and two teaspoonfuls (slightly scant) of salt, turn on a greased marble slab or buttered platters and when cool enough pull. Coloring and flavoring may be added while pulling. Cut with shears and roll in waxed paper.

Hornsby May Succeed McGraw

New York, Dec. 22 (AP).—Rogers Hornsby as a possible successor to John McGraw at the helm of the New York Giants today looked as the latest angle in baseball's most sensational deal since the purchase of Babe Ruth by the Yankees.

"I would like to feel that I can leave the management when my present contract expires two years from now," said the gray haired New York leader. "I do not want to spend all my life running a ball club. Yes, there is a chance that if Hornsby fits in, he may inherit the job."

Baseball men here looked upon Frankie Frisch as a likely successor to McGraw before the trade which sent the former Fordham star and Pitcher Jimmy Ring to the world champions in exchange for Hornsby. The latter always has been admired by the Giant faithful, and during the recent world series he was one of the Cardinal leader's chief counselors. Hornsby probably will captain the New York club next season.

The salary question, one of the issues which led to Hornsby's split with President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals, remains to be settled between the star second baseman and Giant owners. McGraw indicated, however, that he did not feel Hornsby would demand more than the $30,000 which his contract calls for in 1927, although Rogers' break with Breadon was due to his insistence on a three-year contract at $50,000 a year.

Maloney Meets
Persson Tonight

New York, Dec. 22 (AP).—Jimmy Maloney of Boston takes his third step on the heavyweight elimination ladder tonight at Madison Square Garden. Whether he mounts the ring or goes tumbling down in Tex Rickard's series for selection of an outstanding challenger depends upon the outcome of a ten round battle with Harry Persson of Sweden.

In two previous heavyweight encounters here, Maloney displayed enough skill and punching power to make him a 2 to 1 favorite tonight. He stopped Arthur Dekuh of New York in the first match, requiring only two rounds for his triumph. In the second, he decisively outpointed the German contender, Franz Diener. Although Persson's stock took a fall last week as the result of an unexpected defeat at the hands of Pat McCarthy of Boston, the European contender's aggressiveness and heavy hitting have been accepted as assurance of a rugged melee.

Niles Stars as Clintons Win

Winning its game from the fifteen foot line, Clinton Avenue again toppled over the Dixie Orchestra Five Tuesday night in a return match at Catskill by the score of 40 to 32. The game was won practically from the penalty marker, for the music makers corralled four more deuces than the Clintons.

Captain Norman Niles broke away for the Clintons, playing such an unusually brilliant game that it was impossible for the Dixie outfit to hold him. When the Clintons were having a difficult time in gathering two pointers, Niles made use of the fifteen foot line to keep his outfit in front. The Clinton forward made fifteen out of eighteen tries from the penalty strip. Salvador and Cumming led the point making for the Catskill team with 11 and 10 markers. It was a breathless contest until the final seconds as the Catskill team was ever threatening to overcome the Clintons.

CLINTON SECONDS WIN
OVER DIXIE SECONDS

In a contest that resulted into a close battle in the late periods, the Clinton Seconds defeated the Dixie Orchestra Seconds Tuesday night in Catskill on the T. M. C. A. court. The final score was 24-17.

The locals had a healthy lead at half time but had to speed up their play in the second half to overwhelm the up-river outfit. Slater led the scoring for the Kingstons with 11 points, Newkirk following with seven markers.

Babe Ruth's return to the stage this winter will work no spring training hardships on the king of swat, his business representatives report. ## Rough Tactics Not Unusual.

Judging from the Triangulars' correspondent's report of the game in a Catskill Mountain paper the Triangulars think they were treated roughly and unfairly at the Social Hall. The game was rough, as nearly all games on the mountain courts are, but if anyone thought it rougher than the games played on the Triangulars' court he should consult an oculist. The Tannersville reporter says, "I was too busy watching where the next wallop would land and I couldn't very well watch the game." Two opposing players started to fight, but only two or three blows were struck, as the would-be combatants were quickly separated, and the "fight" amounted to nothing. This was somewhat different than what occurred in a game at Tannersville. In a preliminary game a "Chi" player and a Tannersville player started to "scrap" during a game. The audience rushed out on the floor, and the two players were separated. The visiting player was ordered to the dressing room and as he made his way through the crowd he was hit several times in the head. The player, of course, did not finish the game, although his opponent was allowed to continue playing. And that's that—100 per cent accurate.

In the last game played Tannersville shot for 24 fouls and "Chi" shot for 27. These figures rather indicate that the referee was not exactly lax in his duty to the visitors. Some people, that witnessed the game, might even think he was more lenient to the visitors than to the locals.

After Chichester's first game at Tannersville this season the Triangulars' reporter stated something to the effect that Merrill was starting the roughness by unprovoked for shooting and that Zimmerman started the fighting by striking at Hyser. In his account of the last game he says, "I wish to even record as saying that 'Bub' Merrill and Zimmerman were the only basketball players on the Chichester team. The others, Jerry Bennett and Smith, well they stayed in pieces." There is a change of heart here. But we agree on certain points. Possibly Merrill and Zimmerman reformed, under the lash of public criticism, or possibly the Tannersville reporter merely changed his opinion—which of course, he had a perfect right to do.

One of the most valuable lessons a man learns at college is the enormous amount of knowledge there is besides what he knows.

Primitive Indians

A tribe of Indians living in the primitive fashion by hunting and fishing, was discovered in British Columbia by John M. Holworth, who headed an expedition into that region for the biological survey and the National museum. The chief purpose of the expedition was to collect specimens to be used in an investigation being made by the biological survey to determine any possible relationship between Rocky mountain sheep and the wild sheep found in the Far North. Holworth bagged a number of mountain sheep, caribou and bears. He reported that some of the Indian women of the primitive tribe he found were wearing high-heeled shoes and silk stockings which their men had obtained at distant trading posts in exchange for their furs.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Do you speak of Jagers and

or just "diamonds"

If you know whether Jager diamonds are finer than Cape diamonds, Wesseltons finer than Pretoria, if you judge the value of a diamond by its proportion of width to depth—if, in other words, you are a true connoisseur of diamonds, you do not need our help in your choice of these fine jewels.

But if you are not a connoisseur, you will want to be guided in your selection of diamond jewelry by men who have mastered these matters of color, proportion and value. You will feel secure only in a store whose men not only know all there is to know about the diamonds you choose, but who will tell you everything frankly while you choose.

Those people who are not connoisseurs come to us for honest guidance in their selection of fine diamonds.

And those people who are connoisseurs come to us for the fineness of the jewels themselves.
